

Privacy Policy Invent Media

This 'Privacy Policy' lays down the rules for how Invent Media may collect, use and store personal data relating to its professional customers and visitors to fairs, events and activities organised by and/or Invent Media or its parent company.

Please read this Privacy Policy carefully so that you are familiar with Invent Media's policy relating to this subject and so that you are aware of your own rights regarding your personal data in relation to Invent Media. This privacy policy applies both to the data collected by Invent Media and to the data collected by its parent company.

The Privacy Policy is regularly updated. The most recent version of the statement is available on the website (i.e. www.industrialfairs.com, hereinafter referred to as the "Website") and all the websites of the exhibitions organised by Invent Media. The Website and the individual websites of the trade fairs are referred to collectively as the "Websites". We will notify you via the usual communication channels as and when any significant changes are made.

When you use our Website and/or any of our services (including registering for trade fairs, receiving newsletters irrespective of whether they relate to the exhibitions or not) you declare yourself to be in agreement with this Privacy Policy and our General Terms and Conditions. This creates a contractual arrangement between you, as a customer and Invent Media, which you can terminate at any time by exercising one of your rights (article 5 below).

Article 1 – General

- 1.1. When processing your personal data, Invent Media complies with legal requirements, currently the European Regulation no. 2016/679 of 27 April 2016 governing data protection (better known as 'GDPR' or 'AVG') or any other legislative ruling that changes it.
- 1.2. The manager responsible for processing your personal information is Invent Media. This means that you must address any requests to exercise your rights relating to your personal data to Invent Media.

Article 2 – Personal information that you share with us

- Your IP address when you use our Websites and when you log on and use the (free) WiFi connection.
- Your (professional) ID coordinates such as your name, (professional) email address and telephone number when you request information, when you subscribe to a newsletter or any other form of information you would like to receive from Invent Media.

Your (professional) coordinates, such as your name, address, email address, telephone number and profile questions when you register for one of our trade fairs or when you purchase a ticket for one of them. In the event of the latter, should there be a fee for admission to the trade fair, you will also have to submit your payment information, such as your name and account number when making your payment.

- Where applicable, the data included in the QR code on your entrance ticket or badge, namely your first name, surname, telephone number (professional), address, company name, email address and profile questions that are gathered during the registration procedure. This information may or may not be presented in a visible manner on the badge or entrance ticket.

Article 3 – Purposes of data processing

3.1. General purposes

Invent Media will only use personal information obtained from you for the following:

We will use your IP address in order to maintain and improve our Website – in this instance your IP address may be included in anonymous statistics. The legal basis for this is the legitimate interests of Invent Media in being able to ensure the continuous improvement of its Websites.

We only use your IP address when you log on to our website in order to enable the activation of the WiFi connection.

Your IP address is processed by the WiFi provider in accordance with the privacy policy of the specific WiFi provider. Invent Media cannot be held responsible for any processing of your personal data by the relevant WiFi provider outside the terms and conditions as laid down in this Privacy Policy.

Your identity coordinates are only used and processed to send communications for which you have subscribed or requested.

As part of the creation and execution of the agreement lawfully based on the contractual agreement between Invent Media and you, the customer.

Your personal data will also be used to grant you access to your personal account on our digital platform, which enables networking and prospection between exhibitors and visitors during events and exhibitions organized by Invent Media and its subsidiaries. By creating an account on our digital platform, you accept that your data can be used to inform you of potentially interesting connections on the one hand, and to present you to other users as an interesting connection on the other hand – only within this online platform and between users registered by Invent Media and its subsidiaries. This is part of the matchmaking process which is integral part of the services provided by Invent Media and its subsidiaries. The digital platform respects Invent Media's policy and will not use or distribute your data in any other way than stipulated in the current policy.

Your payment details such as name and account number are only used to facilitate payments lawfully based on the contractual agreement between Invent Media and you, the customer. This data is only fully visible to the regulated payment provider with whom Invent Media cooperates. The only information that Invent Media receives in this respect is whether the payment has been successful or not.

Your payment details are processed by the payment provider in accordance with the privacy policy indicated by them. Invent Media cannot be held responsible for the processing of your personal data by the relevant payment provider beyond the terms and conditions as laid down in this Privacy Policy.

If a QR code is provided on your entrance ticket and/or badge, the exhibitors may scan this QR code on their stands and thus obtain the following information from you: first name, surname, telephone number, address, company name, email address and any profile questions (in accordance with the policy indicated on your entrance ticket and/or badge, hereinafter referred to as the "Badge Policy"). You can obtain further information about this in the Badge Policy in article 9.

Following your visit and/or participation in one of our events, your data can be used for the purpose of contact tracing in the context of Covid 19.

3.2. Direct marketing

Your personal information, this includes all data collected in accordance with Article 2, may also be used for direct marketing purposes for events and activities organised by Invent Media, or its subsidiaries, and/or activities or events organized in Invent Media. Direct marketing purposes include, but are not limited to, sending out promotional information, information and newsletters by email or other means.

The legal basis for this is the legitimate interest of Invent Media, whereby we will ensure proportionality.

If you are already included on our mailing list for receiving electronic marketing material, Invent Media may use your data to send out direct marketing material relating to Invent Media, its subsidiaries and its services.

Invent Media and its subsidiaries are entitled to mutually exchange and process your data for use in accordance with this policy. Invent Media will not pass on your coordinates to third parties unless you have given your additional and explicit permission for this ("opt-in") and this without prejudice to the data that you yourself transfer to exhibitors/sponsors or other third parties via the scanning of your QR code and this in accordance with art. 9. If necessary, Invent Media will be entitled to share the data collected in connection with the organisation of specific fairs, activities and/or events with the partner(s) for the specific fair, activity and/or event. In that case, this will be explicitly stated in the privacy policy that is drawn up specifically for the specific exhibition, activity or event.

This permission may be withdrawn at any point in time, without justification and free of charge. You can do this for example by clicking the appropriate 'unsubscribe' link at the bottom of each promotional email message. You can also contact Invent Media via privacy@industrialfairs.com or by writing to the following address: Doorniksesteenweg 216, 8500 Kortrijk.

In compliance with article 5.3. you have the right to oppose this at any point in time.

3.3. Transfer of data to third parties

3.3.1 You always have the right to pass on professional personal data (name, first name, email address) of a colleague. By doing this, you guarantee that you have obtained permission to do so from this colleague.

Your personal data may also be passed on to us by a colleague. In these instances, we assume that this colleague has acted with your consent.

3.3.2 When you register for any of our events, your data may be transferred to and processed by our exhibitors who have a VISIT CONNECT license, by scanning the QR code on your entrance ticket or badge. The legal basis for this is your prior consent, the execution of the agreement and the fact that you always have the choice whether you wish to have your QR code scanned or not.

In compliance with article 5.3, you have the right to oppose or exercise any other of your rights at any point in time.

3.4. Photography and surveillance footage

To guarantee safety during events Invent Media installed cameras on the premises and in the exhibition halls. These camera images are solely recorded and are only viewed for the purpose of surveillance and security.

During our events, photographers can take pictures and make film recordings of exhibitors and visitors present at the fair. These images are used for promotional purposes during and after the event. By registering as a visitor and/or participating as an exhibitor, you agree that you may be photographed or filmed.

3.5. Legal requirements

In rare instances, Invent Media may be obliged to disclose your personal details as a result of a court order or in order to comply with mandatory laws and regulations.

Invent Media will attempt, as far as this is reasonably possible, to notify you in advance, unless legal restrictions make this impossible.

Article 4 – Duration of the processing procedure

Your personal information will not be stored and processed any longer than is necessary in order to fulfil the purpose for which the data was collected.

The IP address collected when you use one of our Websites is used for the duration of your visit to these Websites. The IP address collected when you use the WiFi connection is used only for the duration of your use of the WiFi connection. Your IP address is stored exclusively with the WiFi provider in accordance with legally regulated storage periods

Your ID coordinates such as name, (professional) email address and telephone number are stored for the duration of the contractual arrangement.

Any payment details are stored by the payment provider exclusively in compliance with the regulatory storage periods.

The data included in the QR code on your entrance ticket is stored by Invent Media for the duration of the contractual arrangement. Exhibitors are obliged to store this information in compliance with the legislation in force. Furthermore, exhibitors are obliged to inform you of the terms and conditions laid down in their respective privacy policies.

Since, when providing data, within or outside of another contractual relationship, permission is always given to use data as provided for in Article 3, the "duration of the contractual relationship" is understood to mean the period that ends when the permission is withdrawn in accordance with Article 5.

Article 5 – Your rights

Under current legislation, you have certain rights relating to your personal data. You can exercise these rights by contacting Invent Media by mail at privacy@industrialfairs.com or by post by writing to Doorniksesteenweg 216, 8500 Kortrijk.

5.1. Right of access and inspection

You may ask Invent Media at any point in time whether it processes your personal data, for what purposes it processes this data, which categories of data are processed and with whom it is shared.

5.2. Right of improvement, removal and restriction.

You have the right at any point in time to ask Invent Media to improve, complete, remove or to restrict the processing of your personal information.

5.3. Right to oppose

You have the right to oppose the processing of your data for serious and legitimate reasons.

Moreover, you always have the right to oppose the use of personal data for direct marketing purposes. In these instances you are not required to provide a reason.

By unsubscribing to a newsletter or any other form of direct marketing (e.g. by clicking on a unsubscribe link), this right to object and the corresponding unsubscribe will only apply to the trade fair and the edition to which the newsletter or other form of direct marketing are related.

If you wish to unsubscribe from all newsletters or all forms of direct marketing, you must do so by following the above procedure and by sending an explicit request to privacy@industrialfairs.com

5.4. Right of free transfer of information

You have the right to ask Invent Media to forward your personal information either to yourself or directly to another data processing manager where technically feasible.

5.5. Right to withdraw permission

If the legal basis for the processing of your personal data is your prior approval, you have the right to withdraw it.

5.6. Automatic decisions and profiling

The processing of your personal information does not include profiling and is not subjected by us to automatic decision-making.

5.8. Right to submit complaints

You have the right to file complaints with the Data Protection Authority: Printing Press 35, 1000 Brussels, tel +32 (0) 2 274 48 00, email: commission@privacycommission.be. This is not prejudicial to the provisions for a civil court case. If you suffer damages as a result of the processing of your personal data, you can submit a claim for compensation.

Article 6 – Security and confidentiality

6.1. We have developed security, technical and organisation-oriented measures to avoid the destruction, loss, falsification, modification, unauthorised access or erroneous transfer of personal information to third parties as well as any other unauthorised processing thereof.

6.2. Under no circumstances can Invent Media be held liable for any direct or indirect damages resulting from incorrect or unlawful use of your personal information by third parties. You guarantee that you have lawfully obtained the consent of any persons who appear in any images submitted or uploaded by you and that you will indemnify and safeguard Invent Media against any claims by third parties against Invent Media for unlawful processing of their personal information.

6.3. You must comply with security regulations at all times, for example by preventing any unauthorised access to your login. You are therefore solely responsible for any use of the website from your computer, f your IP address and your identification coordinates, as well as for the confidentiality thereof.

Article 7 – Access by third parties

In order to be able to process your personal data, we give our staff access to your personal information where necessary for any of the aforementioned processing purposes.
